	 Aquila (Czech Republic)	0.33l	115 Czk
		0.75l	195 Czk
Aquila Aqualinea is lightly mineralised water, springing from the depths of volcanic rocks surrounded by pure virgin nature near Karlovy Vary.
	  Mattoni (Czech Republic)	0.33l	115 Czk
		0.75l	195 Czk
Mattoni is a mineral water produced in Karlovy Vary; it contains VITACTIVE – a unique and balanced ratio of minerals and trace elements.
	 San Benedetto (Italy)	0.75l	290 Czk
		Every drop arrives from a long underground journey, unchanged for thousands of years. Starting in the glacial snows of the Dolomite Mountains, it flows and filters to the plain, taking up mineral salts on its way.
	 San Pellegrino (Italy)	0.25l	170 Czk
		0.75l	290 Czk
San Pellegrino was first made famous by quenching the thirst of Leonardo da Vinci. The waters come from an aquifer 1,300 feet below the surface, where limestone and volcanic rocks impart unique minerals and trace elements.
	 Vittel (France)	1l	320 Czk
		Vittel is a still natural mineral water with low mineral level. Vittel provides a well-balanced supply of minerals and trace elements.
	 Perrier (France)	0.2l	170 Czk
		0,75l	290 Czk
The water that started it all! The source of Perrier has been in use since 58 B.C.E. and all water sold around the world is still bottled at Vergeze.
	 Evian (France)	0.33l	170 Czk
		0,75l	290 Czk
Evian water spends at least 15 years slowly filtering through a vast, protective aquifer deep within the Mont Blanc, giving it its unique taste and composition. Evian's taste has a unique character, described by one food expert as "milky".
	 Chateldon (France)	0.75l	290 Czk
		Chateldon is a very unique water to savour. One of nature's rare wonders, the naturally carbonated water is slowly filtered through the rocks of the Chatelonnaise mountains in France and emerges from the spring at a constant temperature of 6°C. Chateldon has been continuously bottled since 1650.
	 Acqua Panna (Italy)	0,25l	170 Czk
		0,75l	290 Czk
The Acqua Panna source is located 3,700 feet high in the serene Apennines Mountains of Tuscany, Italy.
