Maintenance is the best choice to preserve your leather furniture and prevent expensive restoration.

We are Bridgepoint Certified Leather Specialist, and we use only Leather Master products to care for your leather furniture. We understand that different leathers need a different cleaning approach, and we will determine the best and safest way clean these items.

It is a misconception that simply wiping your leather with soap and water is the best way to maintain your leather pieces. Using products not designed specifically for leather cleaning even "protected" leather may break down its durable finish causing the pigment to crack or peel. Furthermore, aniline and nubuck leather are not low maintenance. These leathers are extremely porous and should be cleaned thoroughly on a regular basis to protect your investment.
