The land of good food and wine, rolling hills and vineyards, a unique and tranquil home from home.

Piedmont

(Piemonte in Italian)

Piedmont is Italy's land of good food and wine. Whether its dogs snuffling around roots of trees to sniff out the world's richest crop of white truffles, sitting on a designer bar stool in some chic café in Turin sipping orange cappuccinos in chocolate-lined cups or watching Ferrero rolling out its golden rocher (rocks) in Alba you will soon agree that its cultural portfolio is second to none and the gastronomic creations cooked up in the kitchen are both mouth-watering and memorable.

If you are planning a holiday, taking a business trip or just travelling through Italy, then nowhere could be better for you to stay than at the Cascina Bella Vista!

Tucked away in the rolling hills and vineyards of Cantarana (Italian translation is Singing Frog), this stunningly restored farmhouse offers you a truly unique and tranquil home from home experience, it is the perfect place to relax and enjoy the abundance of nature that will surround you: from wild boars, gecko's, deer, numerous woods, meadows, wild flowers, the mountains and wild birds galore.

Take a walk, a mountain bike ride (available to hire) or ride on horseback around the Cascina and you will soon realise the areas true richness, it is the ideal starting point to discover the fantastic gastronomic and cultural life of Southern Piedmont.

During your stay

During your stay you will receive a warm welcome from your hosts, Peggy and Jason along with a host of other animals including the in-laws; we speak English, Italian, Dutch and German.
