Begins as a fino, fortified to approximately 13.5 % alcohol with a cap of flor yeast limiting its exposure to the air. Later must be fortified to approximately 17.5 % alcohol so that it does not oxidise too quickly. Gains a darker colour and richer flavour than fino.

PALO CORTADO

Palo Cortado is a rare variety of sherry that is initially aged under flor to become a fino or amontillado, but inexplicably loses its veil of flor and begins aging oxidatively as an oloroso. The result is a wine with some of the richness of oloroso and some of the crispness of amontillado. Only about 1-2% of the grapes pressed for sherry naturally develop into palo cortado.

In the very old wines, it is customary to tone them down with Mistela of Pedro Ximenez which provide notes of sweetness to mitigate the bitter tannins of the oak. These combine the bitter notes of the Olorosos with hints of toast and the sweetness of the Pedro Ximenez.

SHERRY BRANDY

Sherry brandy has several distinct flavour characteristics others cannot match. Airen grapes grown in La Mancha on the Central Plateau of Spain are vinified and distilled either there or in Extremadura north of Andalusia. These distillates are then shipped to Jerez de la Frontera for aging and blending to produce Sherry Brandy.
