'Scratch & Help' booklets

With their 'Scratch & Help' booklet in hand, fundraiser's approach family, friends and neighbours to ask them if they would support the fundraiser by scratching off a few dots.

The amount revealed underneath the dots that the supporter scratches off becomes their contribution to the fundraiser...like a donation

Each booklet contains 40 dots concealing amounts from 50c to $3 underneath - well within the comfort level of most people. Generally people will scratch off 2 - 3 dots.

By seeing 13 - 20 people, each seller can raise the $80 on each booklet.

It works on the philosophy that many people support fundraising groups for the pleasure of giving and helping others rather than for what they will get in return.
