ERIN AND A PIANO

“Erin Mortimer is everything you could ask for in a modern day pop artist. A young lady with a big voice, and engaging stage persona, Erin gathers her inspiration from across all genres of music. From Musical theatre to Rock and toe-tapping soul, the youthfulness of her music leaves her audiences and listeners remembering why they grew to love music in the first place.

After graduating from high-school, Erin was cast in the 2005 production of “Grease – The Arena Spectacular”, where she also understudied the role of “Donna-Sue”. After working alongside industry professionals John Farnham, Natalie Bassingwhaite and Darren Coggan, Erin’s passion and focus turned towards her singing and songwriting.

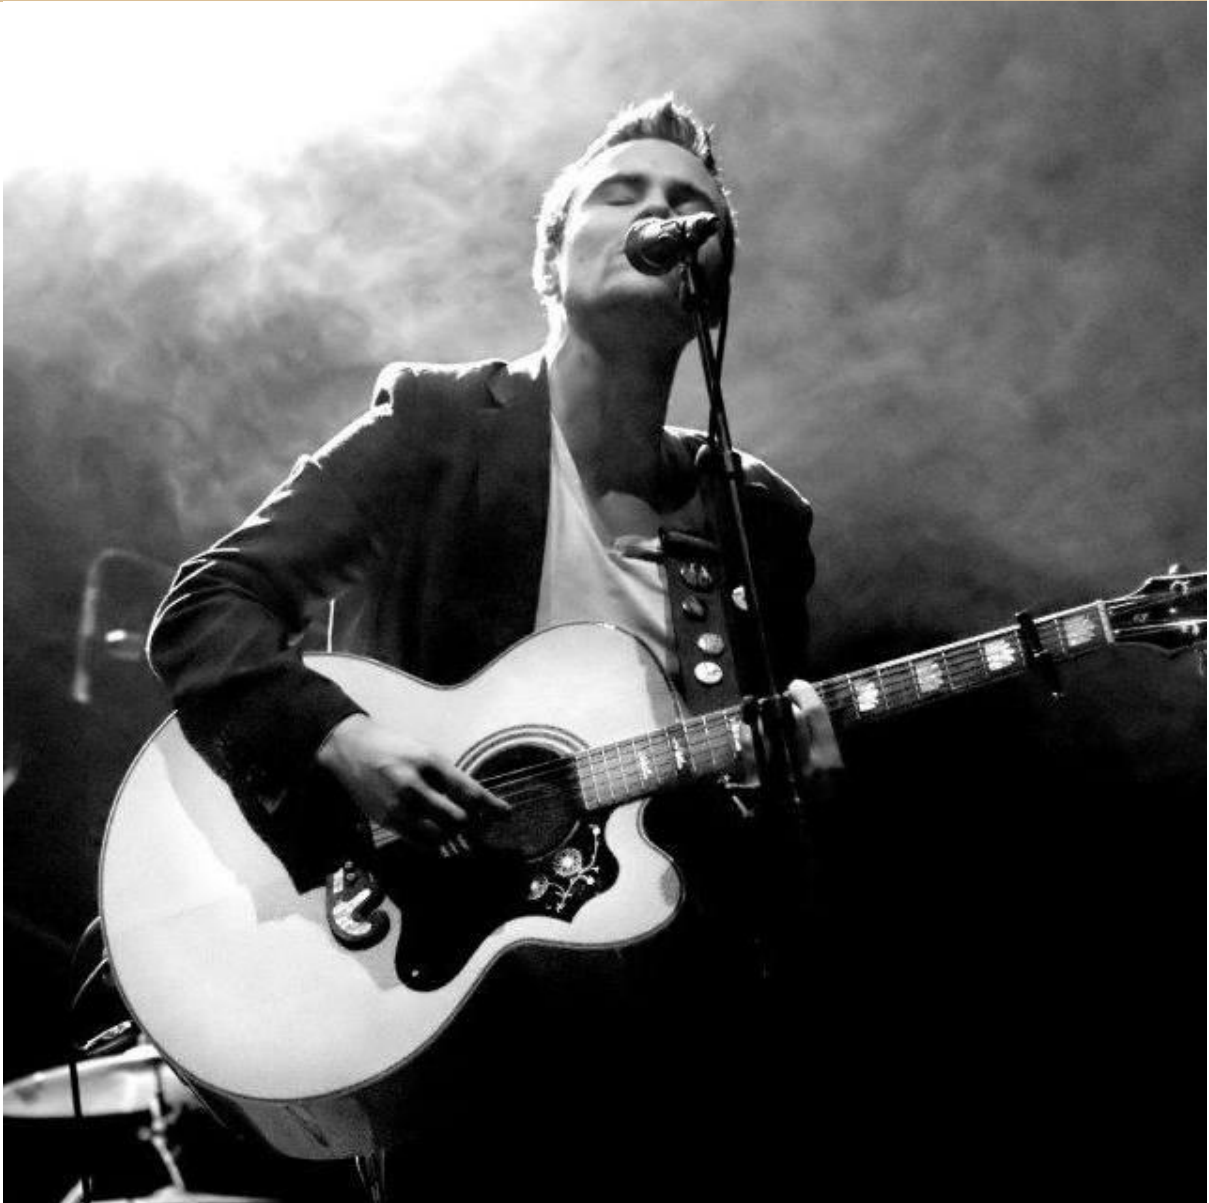

She graduated from the Australian Institute of Music with honors in 2007, and soon after performed the Australian national anthem for the NRL State of Origin, game 1 of 2008. An honor to which she was invited back to perform a second time at this years 2013 NRL State of Origin Series. Erin also toured Australia in 2010 with Darren Coggan's successful production, "Peace Train – The Cat Stevens Story", and just prior to returning to London last year, Erin performed a short season of sold-out shows at the iconic Sydney Opera House. She currently bases herself in London, and is in pre production for album number 2.

The influences that have honed Erin as a performer stem from her training across all facets of dance. This is very evident when listening to her music. Enjoy"
